Fees are as published by the named service providers on their own website(s) on the date(s) shown and may be varied at any time without notice. Skrill has no obligation to monitor and update the fee comparison table at a certain period of time, therefore fees shown may not be up to date, depending on each service provider's individual fee changes over time. Skrill will explicitly state the date on which Skrill checked the service provider's fees and the fees may have changed in the meantime (increased or decreased).

Skrill compares fees on the basis that all products and services offered are of the same specification on the applicable date(s). Information shown here is for personal use and guidance only and does not constitute any contractual representation, warranty or obligation on Skrill's side. Information provided should not be taken as professional advice from Skrill. Skrill is not a financial adviser. You should consider seeking independent legal, financial, taxation or other advice to check how the fees comparison information relates to your unique circumstances.

Although the information herein is presented in good faith and believed to be correct at the time of printing, Skrill makes no representations or warranties as to the completeness or accuracy of the information. Any liability for errors, omissions or consequential loss is expressly excluded.

Fees shown are exclusive of VAT, any discounts as applicable in service provider(s)' sole determination, other special offers and/or promotions, etc. which may eventually alter the final fee payable by the customer from the compared fee published by Skrill.

What fees do we compare?

We compare fees that are freely accessible and publicly available on the service providers' websites.

The amounts shown in the table are exemplary only and aim at giving a better clarity on the type of fees that will be added to your net transaction amount.

Depending on the fee structure of each service provider, amounts might be subject to a transfer fee or other administrative fees.

For every currency conversion, Skrill will apply the average daily interbank market rate published by a third-party foreign currency data provider (Reuters) to which, Skrill adds a foreign exchange fee. The foreign exchange fee is payable in addition to the transfer fee.
